As in previous years, the seminar aims to provide updates and insights on critical industry and market developments, and provide a platform for shipowners, financiers and other industry players to network and interact. This year, being the final year before the IMO 2020 rules take effect, the seminar casts additional spotlight on shipping environment issues, offering insights into the latest regulatory developments, updates on the industry's compliance readiness, and potential financing solutions for the industry to tap on. Participants will get to exchange views with a distinguished panel of specialist speakers including:
